ECENT CHANGES in the War situation on both fronts have skyrocketed demands for pulpwood products.

The Pacific timetable has been stepped up—and so have the needs for packaging materials and shipping containers made of pulpwood.

Prospects of a Winter War in Europe require many additional tons of supplies packaged in pulpwood products.

Because most packaging materials for the Armed Forces come from the South, the nation looks to us to step up the supply of pulpwood immediately.

There's a crisis in the making!

If stocks pile up in fertilizer plants and agents' warehouses, the stream of supply will choke up. They must move fast or the lack of man-power will cause a paralyzing shortage.

Take the Chilean Nitrate situation for example. To supply the quantity needed for 1945 crops, many cargoes must be unloaded each month at each port, then moved out by train and truck for immediate allocation. It must move out of agents' hands as fast as it moves in. If not, the choke-up starts and works back to the ports, even back to the ships.

Already there's a threatened shortage of nitrogen, due to sharply increased war needs. Unless you help smash the bottle-neck by taking your nitrate as soon as it is offered, the shortage will become acute. Thousands of tons will pile up at U.S. ports or on the docks in Chile. The only place Chilean Nitrate does you any good is on your crops. Get yours now ... while you
